Klasko Immigration Law Partners Welcomes Myriam Jaidi as Senior Counsel to Its Corporate Immigration Team

PHILADELPHIA September 22, 2021 – Klasko Immigration Law Partners, LLP is pleased to announce Myriam Jaidi has joined its corporate immigration team as a senior counsel.

Myriam represents professionals, companies, non-profits, and individuals on a broad range of cases including permanent residence cases (based on labor certification, extraordinary ability, and multinational transfers), nonimmigrant matters (B, E, F, H-1B, J, L, O, TN, etc.), family-based sponsorship, and citizenship matters. She is also experienced with defending individuals facing removal and successfully litigating before the Immigration Court and the Board of Immigration Appeals.

Myriam has helped clients navigate the complexities of consular processing (including National Interest Exceptions and other travel ban issues during the coronavirus pandemic) and has assisted individuals with humanitarian forms of relief, including Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA), T visas for trafficking victims, U visas for crime victims, Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) relief for battered spouses, parents and children, as well as asylum, withholding of removal, waivers, and requests for prosecutorial discretion.

Throughout her 14-year immigration law career, Myriam has been committed to sharing and sharpening her legal knowledge through presentations, writing, teaching, and mentoring. In 2015, Myriam taught Family-based Immigration Law & Procedure at CUNY School for Professional Studies, and Immigration Law for Paralegals at City College in New York. Myriam speaks English, is proficient in French, and is intermediate in spoken Moroccan Arabic.

Klasko Immigration welcomes Myriam to the firm and encourages any individual or corporation looking for an experienced and dedicated immigration lawyer to schedule a consultation with Myriam.
