Klasko Immigration Law Partners Welcomes Ian Wilson

Klasko Immigration Law Partners, LLP is pleased to welcome Ian Wilson as a Senior Associate on the EB-1 and corporate immigration teams, based in the firm's Philadelphia office.

Ian Wilson is a business immigration attorney with more than 15 years of immigration law experience advising employers, universities, healthcare organizations, research institutions, and foreign nationals on employment-based immigration matters, with particular experience in extraordinary ability and advanced degree cases, including EB-1, EB-2 National Interest Waiver (NIW), and O-1 petitions. Before entering private practice, he served as an in-house immigration advisor at a leading research university, managing immigrant and nonimmigrant matters for faculty and research personnel and administering a high-volume J-1 scholar program, giving him valuable insight into the immigration challenges facing higher education and research institutions.

"Ian's background advising universities and healthcare institutions gives him a real understanding of the pressures our clients face in recruiting and retaining top talent," said Elise Fialkowski, Partner and Co-Chair of the Corporate Practice Area at the firm. "His experience with EB-1 and NIW cases will be a strong addition to our university and corporate immigration practice."

Ian will support the firm's EB-1, university and corporate immigration teams, advising not only universities and hospitals, but also multinational companies across several industries to help organizations attract and retain international talent in an increasingly complex regulatory environment.

"As demand for EB-1 and NIW representation continues to grow, Ian's addition strengthens our ability to serve employers, universities, and healthcare institutions navigating an increasingly competitive landscape for top talent," said William (Bill) Stock, the firm's Managing Partner.
